Pamphlet Case Document Missing

TESTIMONY HITS GREEN

A missing piece of prosecution evidence, which disappeared from the courtroom late yesterday, shared attention at the "Fools Rush In" hearing today with a blocked attempt by Joel Ogle, Santa Ana attorney, to make disclosures regarding J. Malcolm Green, one of six pamphlet defendants charged with criminal conspiracy and criminal libel.

The hearing spotlight temporarily swung away from G. F. McKeiv, suspended deputy sheriff and turned upon Green as John L. Harris, Los Angeles handwriting expert, pointed to an asserted similar frequency of quotation marks in the pamphlet "Fools Rush In" and on news articles of the Santa Ana Bee, Green's weekly newspaper in Santa Ana.

Green Heard

Green again was the center of the hearing this morning as Attorney Ogle, who had been employed by Green last July 21 to handle incorporation proceedings, was called by Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner to testify of conversations with Green.

Attorneys W. M. Burke and Charles McGinnis promptly objected on Green's behalf, claiming any

Nazi Power Is Conceded

LONDON, Nov. 1. — (UP) — Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain conceded in the House of Commons today that Germany is the dominant power in central and Southeastern Europe.

"Geographically, Germany must occupy a dominant position in central and southeast Europe," the prime minister said. "She does so now."

"As far as this country is concerned, we have no wish to block Germany out of these countries or encircle her economically."

Prepare Pact

Chamberlain also told the house that Britain will conclude her friendship agreement with Italy as rapidly as possible and envisaged a presumptive "new era of peace in Europe."

He declared he could see no reason why the totalitarian states and democracies can not work together.

Chamberlain said a motion will

Dies Blasts Critics; Continues Quiz

After blasting high administration officials in a radio address last night charging they fostered a "campaign of ridicule," and "torrents of abuse," Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, today indicated he would continue his probe into subversive acts in the U. S. Defending his hearing, he read letters from department heads and cabinet members who had "refused to comply" with the resolution creating the committee by failing to furnish investigators and lawyers to help it. Immediately after his address, Dies was blasted by Newspaper Reporter Paul Y. Anderson who charged the committee was "slip shod and shockingly unfair."

U. S. Drafts Health Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Government health officials began drafting today details of an $850,000,000 a year national health program after reaching agreement in principle with the American Medical Association.

Prominent doctors and medical economists returned home after a seven-hour conference which placed four out of five of the government's major proposals in a state where "plans for action may now be formulated," officials said.

The program calls for:

4-Point Program

1.—A $200,000,000 expansion of preventive public health services and broadening of the Social Security act to increase provisions for material and child care.

2.—A hospital expansion program to increase the facilities available for medical care.

3.—Extension of medical assistance now available to low income families.

4.—Development of a plan of in-

HOWARD ACE BY 4 LENGTHS

By HENRY McLEMORE
PIMLICO, RACE TRACK, Md., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Seabiscuit, stout veteran of 84 trips to the post, came top horse of America when he defeated War Admiral in their match race.

War Admiral broke the stout little Seabiscuit, mand passing the lead never lost the lead about four lengths.

True to his name, away from the start was a streak in the ends of the race, the circuit leveled away for the Admiral.

After he was the time of a second record he led by a raised 1 1/2 carves.

He came of speed, closed in on three-quartering head.

10-YEAR-OLD BRIDE, MOTHER JAILED; HUSBAND, 34, SOUGHT

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Kentucky took stern measures today to dissolve the marriage of 10-year-old Rosie Columbus Tackett, as evidence for the back-hill folk that the state will not tolerate child brides.

County Judge Edwin P. Hill ordered Rosie and her mother, Mrs. Grace Columbus, to appear in court today for arraignment.

Rosie will be taken before a juvenile branch on a charge of delinquency and "growing up in idleness and crime."

Mrs. Columbus was charged with "conspiracy to commit rape."

Pair Jailed

Deputy sheriffs seized them late yesterday as they attempted to flee from the cabin-home of relatives on Barnett's creek in Johnson county, sparsely settled mountain mining district. The officers brought them to the county jail here.

The husband, Fleming Tackett, 34, a miner, who married Rosie a week ago, had fled. Deputies sought him in the hills in northern Floyd county on a warrant issued by Judge Hill charging "rape of a child under 14."

"Courtin' Long Time

Mrs. Columbus told officers she had not "pushed" the marriage. "They been courtin' for a long time," she said. "They wanted to marry and I couldn't stop them."

"Rosie was so took with him," she said, "she told me she would jump in the well less I got the license. She run toward it, but I caught her."

8-WEEK'S F. STORE STRIKE IS SETTLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—(UP)—The San Francisco department store strike ended today and several thousand clerks and other employees out of work during the eight week walkout began a mass registration for job assignments under a new contract.

Picket lines were withdrawn from 26 main stores and nine branches affected. All stores remained open throughout the strike.

54 Vote Margin

The striking A.F.L. clerks union accepted, by the slim margin of 54 votes, a new contract with the San Francisco Retailers Council. The vote was: for settlement 1063; against, 1014.

The new contract did not provide for the union shop. The union had asked and struck for a modified form of preferential hiring. The agreement embodied a seniority clause reportedly acceptable to both sides. It included a raise in the basic wage scale of from $18 to $20 a week, and increased vacation with pay schedule and a clause designating the union as collective bargaining agent for all employees covered under the contract. An adjustment board was established to mediate future disputes.

Thousands Affected

Several thousand employees in 24 A.F.L. unions and others indirectly affected by the strike participated in the return to work move, which store executives said would release millions of dollars worth of business here within the next few days.

Store owners, in a meeting held prior to the union's mass meeting at Dramland Auditorium, unanimously approved the agreement which will be effective until July 31, 1940.

Early in the dispute the union gave up its demand for a closed shop clause to bring all employees into the union.

The pact provided the return of strikers to their jobs without discrimination and with a preference of employment over persons hired since Sept. 7, first day of the strike.

CALIFORNIANS GET FARLEY'S SUPPORT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Only one short week remained today for candidates to make their final appeals for election on Nov. 8.

Out of the mass of publicity and partisan argument came a second New Deal administration endorsement for the Democratic nominees in two days. Postmaster General James Farley broadcast an appeal for Democratic support from New York last night, only a day after California Bourbons released a letter from President Roosevelt, lauding Sheridan Downey for the Senate.

Sees Victory

Farley said in part: "There is no danger that this country will shift from the leadership that has brought us so far on our way to one that has no plan at all. We depend on California to do its part."

"To be sure our political foes call him (Culbert L. Olson, for governor) a radical, along with that other eminent Democrat, Sheridan Downey, whom I expect to welcome in Washington as the senator from California. Do not let this name-calling worry you. In the minds—or rather, the propaganda—of the minority party, we are all anarchists."

Dodges Questions

Olson, queried on his position on the $30-Every-Thursday plan, said in San Francisco last night that he had no opinion on the matter.

DIES TO CONTINUE INQUIRY; BLASTS "RIDICULE CAMPAIGN"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Chairman Dies, D. Tex., of the house committee investigating un-American activities, indicated today that he would continue his inquiry into subversive activities after denouncing high administration officials for a "campaign of ridicule" and "torrent of abuse unloosed upon us."

In a radio address last night, Dies defended his hearings and read letters from department heads and cabinet members who had "refused to comply" with the resolution creating the committee by failing to furnish investigators and lawyers to help it.

Wide Interest

The address created much interest because of his charges, made yesterday, that the speaker who followed him on the Mutual Broadcasting Company's network, Paul Y. Anderson, Washington correspondent for the St. Louis Star-Times, had been scheduled "to answer him" after the administration proceedings.

GUILD EDICT DEFIED BY YEHUDI MENUHIN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Yehudi Menuhin, violin virtuoso, demanded today that the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra live up to its contract and permit him to play with it without first joining a union.

But the orchestra also had contracted with the American Guild of Musical Artists, to which all its musicians belong, not to employ any concert artist which was not a member of the guild.

No Comment

In their dilemma, officials of the orchestra association would make no comment. Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, president, called a meeting of members to obtain their advice before conferring with the executive board of the Los Angeles Guild of Musical Artists. Local union officials who endorsed the banning of Menuhin by the guild's national board, would add nothing to its comment.

The curious situations which seemed to have no obvious solution unless one or the other of the two parties with whom the orchestra had contracted, gave way, was brought about by the refusal of the board of the guild to waive its contract clause and permit Menuhin, the brilliant 21-year-old violinist, to play Mozart with the orchestra Thursday and Friday nights without becoming a union member.

Stands Pat

Menuhin, through his father, Moshe, announced at his home in Los Gatos, last night that he would not waive his contract which was signed a year ago and which said nothing about union membership. Menuhin had contracted then to play twice with the orchestra for a fee of $3000 and he will come tonight to live up to his side of the agreement.

"We have a bonafide, white, American contract," the elder Menuhin said, "and we expect it to be carried out. If there had been any intimation at the time we accepted the Los Angeles contract that my son's appearance would be based on his joining the A. G. M. A. we would have accepted another of the more than 300 offers we had at that time."

"Yehudi will expect the Los Angeles Guild to live up to its contract."

U. S. OF W

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—The Federal Communications Commission today announced that it would consider the broadcast today. If we don't get to it, we might put the matter off until next Tuesday. Or perhaps, if the other commissioners are agreeable, we'll hold a special meeting."

Commission officials said that they had no power to fine offending stations, but that they could use the broadcast as a partial basis for refusing a renewal of license. Operating licenses may be refused when the commission finds a station has not served "public interest, convenience and necessity."

The present commission, however, has used this basis for refusing to renew only one license—that of KGBZ, York, Neb. Officials said a station's six-months license ordinarily would be renewed unless the station had repeated violations of the communications act.

"War of Worlds"

When listeners protested recently that a Mae West broadcast was suggestively indecent, the mission severely reprimanded stations carrying the program.

The broadcast Sunday was a dramatization of the fantastic novel, "War of Worlds." The program by Orson Welles, depicting a space ship from Mars, New Jersey. The program, interrupting a "4-4" program broadcast "news bulletins," related how monsters poured from the space ship and started destroying civilization with death rays.

Blast Mountain To Save Dog

CLARKSBURG, W. V., Nov. 1.—(UP)—A crew of begrimmed mountaineers blasted away at Spelter mountain today, unswerving from their confidence that Sport, a "community dog" will be rescued from the narrow cavern that has held him for 13 days.

Sport, a brown and white Beagle and who has gone hunting with most every resident of Spelter, 10 miles from here, was trapped, fissure on the mountain, prebly while chasing a fox over treacherous ridges and sink holes.

In 24 hours of blasting at the pink mountain side, the crew had tun away two tons. It was estimated that another four or five tons would have to be blown loose before Sport's prison could be reached. Sport, the pet of 19-year-old Howard Wallis, was believed to have been Food has been shoved to him. Some thought they heard his barks yesterday.

Stores May Close Armistice Day

Recommendation of the Santa Ana Business Men's association board of directors that all business establishments be closed all day Armistice Day was announced today by Secretary Phil Brown. All public offices and banks will be closed for the day.

The Business Men's association made the recommendation because a Congressional act adopted last May established Nov. 11 as a national and legal, public holiday. Secretary Brown said. He said that Long Beach and Los Angeles business houses will remain open in spite of the act by Congress and added that the association later probably would recommend that Santa Ana business firms remain open on Armistice Day next year inasmuch as Armistice Day, 1939, falls on Saturday.

CHEW ON BONES URGES DENTIST

CHICAGO—(UP)—If Johnny or Helen want to chew on a steak or pork chop bone after dinner, don't be too hasty in discouraging the habit, advises Dr. Asa J. LaGrow of Oak Park, Ill. He says that the bone-chewing will help nature build a sound set of teeth in a child and at the same time overcome to a great extent the possibility of a receding or protruding jaw.

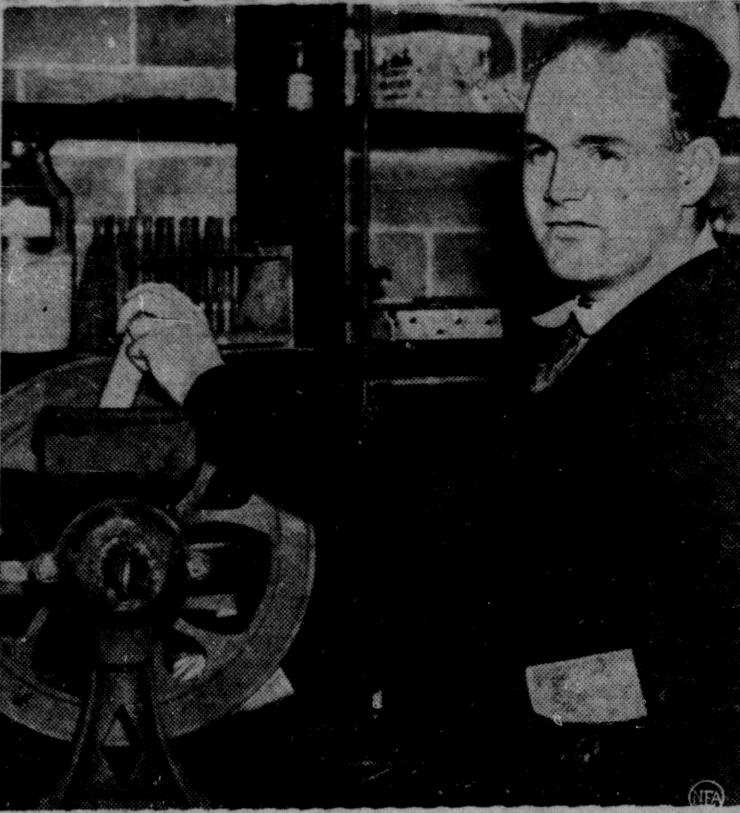

The dentist expounded his view in an article written for the Journal of the American Dental Association. He pointed out that "modern dietary is of a kind which leaves teeth, jaws and muscles of mastication imperfectly exercised." He advocated the use of muscle exercise to help straighten crooked teeth and to help overcome improper jaw alignment.

It was explained that the "muscle exercise" stimulates normal jaw bone cell building, which in turn strengthens parts of the oral structures which are unbalanced because of their weakness.

Dr. LaGrow cited evidence that the lower jaw of a new-born baby usually lies back of the upper jaw in relation to the profile of the face. Nature tells the infant to strengthen the muscles of the lower jaw by nursing. Instinct of the baby to gnaw strengthens the lower jaw and the jaw normally lengthens as the child grows. The failure of a baby to exert this instinctive exercise may leave the jaw in a posterior position, Dr. LaGrow.

Katella Farmers 4-H Club To Stage Fair In Anaheim

This Dynamite Really Fool-Proof

A substitute for dynamite that can be hammered, pulverized, bounced on the floor and even set on fire without exploding has been invented by J. W. Dawson, chemistry teaching fellow at the University of Washington. Here, as an evidence of the impurity with which the new explosive may be handled, Dawson grinds a stick of the substance in an old-fashioned grocer's coffee mill.

The Katella Farmers 4-H Club, under the leadership of A. C. Sutcliffe, today announced plans for a Junior 4-H Fair and cooked food sale to be held all day Saturday, November 12, at 131 W. Center street, Anaheim.

All 4-H members in Orange county are invited to exhibit their products. Entries of swine, sheep, rabbits, calves, poultry, vegetables and honey are welcome from agricultural club members. Entries of clothing from clothing club members are also welcome.

W. M. Cory, Assistant Farm Advisor, will judge the livestock entries and Mr. F. C. Davies of Orange will judge the rabbits. Other judges will be announced later.

The Katella Farmers are putting this exhibit on to show the public some of the results of their 4-H project work. Champion, First, Second, Third and Fourth Ribbons will be given to winning entries in all classes.

Club members invite the public to visit their exhibit. No admission will be charged.

R. R. HEADS TO DROP WAGE CUT DEMANDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Possibilities of a nationwide railroad strike diminished today as it became apparent that rail executives would abandon their demands for a 15 per cent wage cut in return for administration support of broad rail aid legislation.

Management leaders rushed plans for settling finally the controversy with their 960,000 workers. Presidents of the 139 class 1 railroads were summoned to a special meeting in Chicago at 10 a. m. Friday to decide whether to abandon the pay cut fight.

It was indicated unofficially that they would do so in order that work may begin at once on a joint management-labor program for rehabilitation which President Roosevelt's administration will support in the next congress.

These considerations were said to be pushing the rail executives toward a cancellation of the pay cut notice, effective Dec. 1.

1.—The adverse report of Mr. Roosevelt's emergency fact finding board which held that wage reduction proposal unjustified.

2.—The threat of rail labor unions to stage a national strike if the cut is made effective.

3.—Mr. Roosevelt's offer to support constructive rail legislative proposals in the next Congress.

H. A. Egan, chairman of the carriers joint conference committee, which conducted the wage negotiations on behalf of all the railroads, indicated that the pay proposal would be shelved when he declared that "a railway strike is so far, far away that there is no reason to get worried about it."

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 1.—Action on an offer of $25,000 in cash, $156,000 out of two per cent gross over-riding royalty and an amount equal to two per cent of the amount of royalties paid to the state from oil received from the tideland oil pool, made to the city council last night in a letter from Harry J. Marsh, president of the Southwest Exploration company was delayed until Thursday evening.

Satisfactory to Mayor

Mayor M. M. McCallen, selected earlier by the other councilmen to negotiate a settlement with the oil company, which has a permit from the state to drill 87 tideland wells, revealed that the proposal was satisfactory to himself and the oil company.

At the close of the reading of the letter by City Clerk C. R. Furr, Councilman A. L. Henriksen moved that the offer be accepted. Councilman A. W. Morehouse seconded the motion. Councilman T. B. Talbert suggested that the council deal further because in his belief a large per cent could be secured. Councilman Lee Chamness agreed to the proposal as fair.

Report Presented

City Attorney Ray Overacker then suggested that since the city had hired special counsel, George B. Bush, and Overacker to make a complete study of the rights of the city and to brief the same to the council, that they should be given time to present their findings.

Councilman Henriksen immediately withdrew his motion and Morehouse, his second Mayor McCallen, declared a half hour recess in which to hear the reading of the brief. The body adjourned to an inner office for this conference, later adjourning until next Thursday.

BIGGEST LETTER IS FILED WITH UNION

LONDON—(UP)—In the files of National Farmers' Union in London reposes what is believed to be the world's biggest letter.

This document, measuring 15 feet 1 1/2 inches by 1 foot 3 1/2 inches was sent to the union by a resident of Mosman, New South Wales.

The letter has been written in copper-plate hand on sheets of paper about foot square which had then been pasted on a long strip of brown paper.

The writer, presumably a farmer, had a weakness for figures. Under a heading, "English and Australian Agricultural Shows; Comparisons of Relative Conditions and Results," he gives a series of tables of the populations and areas of each state of the commonwealth, and also of the biggest cities.

From this he works out the percentage of population attending agricultural shows.

Similar data is given about England, while other tables give figures of revenue earned and expenditure involved in these shows.

The whole document works up to the final argument that England has too many shows, and that, like Australia, it should limit the number and economize.

Squirrel New Tree Grafter

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK (UP)—A squirrel here has the credit for a most remarkable feat of tree grafting.

On the nature trail near Old Faithful geyser, it had selected the forked root of a large lodgepole pine for its winter cache of the seed of a whitebark pine. The seed germinated, took root and grew into a separate trunk but with a complete fusion of the woody material of both trunks.

Grins at Critics

Smiling contentedly, and apparently completely recovered from the wracking strain of negotiating the recent European "peace pact", Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain is pictured above as he arrived back in London from a brief vacation in Scotland. On the job again, he will cope with such knotty problems as the revolt in Palestine and critics of the "Munich peace" plan.

A Thought for Today—

"I do not know how many days may be left me, but upon each one of them I shall do something for someone beyond mere requirement."
—D. THERAM

To do something for everyone "beyond mere requirement" has been our fundamental policy. And so, today, third generations of Santa Ana families still are placing their trust in the House of Winbigs.

WILL THE GAMBLERS "MUSCLE IN" ON ORANGE COUNTY?

BY SHERIFF LOGAN JACKSON

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I suppose that there should be great rejoicing in the ranks of public decency today because Jess Elliott, my opponent in this campaign, has come over to us. It seems that we are now unanimous. Both of us are now in accord with the people of Orange County. We are both against the gamblers.

It may seem to some of you that Mr. Elliott's conversion has been a trifle delayed. This campaign has been going on for three months, and for three months I have been reminding you that the fight against gambling is not new, and not altogether my fight. I have faced it for years and fought it for years, but until last Wednesday, Jess Elliott had not by any word or sign indicated or admitted that there is such a thing as a gambling problem in Orange County.

It is a great victory to have him admit it. He has admitted it grudgingly and sneeringly, and as a minor consideration among the many problems of the county, but he has admitted it.

Now, I think, folks, that I have kept working on Mr. Elliott and if you keep working on Mr. Elliott, that we can get him to come all the way over to our side and really acknowledge that public decency is really one of the big issues in this campaign, and that no man can be honest with the people of Orange County unless he does admit it, and unless he takes a firm and vigorous stand against gambling and gamblers.

And in admitting it, he takes me to task for introducing the name of Mr. Floyd Howard, the indicted chief of police of Santa Ana, into this campaign. He is very tender toward his friend, Mr. Howard. He denies, as I asked him to deny, that he intends to appoint Howard as one of his assistants. I believe him, as I said I would believe him.

But I believe also, ladies and gentlemen, that by asking the question publicly, I forced Mr. Elliott to make a decision and to publicly announce it. When, asked by a special group two weeks ago, his answer was, "I am not yet elected sheriff." Why did he not squarely and fairly then and there answer as he answered Wednesday? Did he have to have time to think it over?

Mr. Elliott says I am unkind in bringing Mr. Howard into this campaign. I did not bring him in. He came in himself on the side of Jess Elliott, and for reasons which I do not believe are wholesome. I am merely making known the fact that Howard is in this campaign, and that he is for Elliott, and I am making it known because I believe the people should know it. And I am right.

I have not accused Mr. Howard of any crime. A federal grand jury accused him. I have not convicted him of any crime. But I believe a man so accused should have the good taste to retire as chief of police of Santa Ana, while he is under a cloud, and that he should have the good taste to stay out of the campaign for sheriff.

When a man is under indictment on a lottery charge, I think it is a fair assumption that the federal grand jury found evidence on which to indict him. I would not want a man in such a position supporting me and, when, along with Howard, we find such people as Foust, the slot machine king, and Barron and Gil, and this other big shot dog track man supporting Elliott, what are we to think?

I know what I think, and I know what a lot of Orange County people are beginning to think. And it is not what Mr. Elliott wants them to think.

And now, while we are on that subject, I remember that Mr. Elliott failed to mention the dog track matter, and failed to give us the name of one of his managers who was working in the interest of the dog track bill at the legislature.

While Mr. Elliott was putting us right on the gambling question, why did he not mention this man? I accuse Jess Elliott of having this man as one of his managers, of advising with him in this campaign, of going about the county being introduced by this man, and of having this man work hard for his election. Jess Elliott has refused to divulge the name. I will divulge it. The name of the man is Leonard Obarr of Huntington Beach.

How do I know that this man Obarr was working for the interests of the dog track bill? Well, would I make the statement unless I could prove it? I can prove it, and I will prove it at any time I am called upon by the courts of this county to prove it. Let Mr. Elliott deny it.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, you may judge the sincerity of those faint assurances that Jess Elliott gives you that he is against the gamblers. I do not believe it.

I do not believe it and I think it is a monstrous thing for any man to talk of his plan of handling juvenile delinquency while the underworld crowd waits patiently for the people to take office of sheriff over to his hands.

What contributes to delinquency of juveniles so much as cheap joints where kids play pool, and cheap beer joints where kids are sold illegal drinks, and houses of ill fame and youth?

Is there any fight that can contribute so much to the welfare of children as the fight to get such things, the fight that I have been making? For shame! Jess Elliott talks of his plans, ing delinquents and admits the cause of delinquency only when I compel him to admit it.

What kind of frankness is that with the people of Orange county? It is the same kind of mess that characterizes Mr. Elliott's attitude toward the farmers.

Let us have an example. Mr. Lucio, the Mexican leader of the Communist agitators, who presided at the farm strike two years ago, wrote a letter in this campaign on behalf of Elliott. Lucio was one of those leaders who directed the riots where American citizens were beaten and driven away from their property by gangs of armed Mexicans. This is the Lucio who wanted to dictate to the farmers how they should conduct their business. He was the Lucio who wanted to stop the packing house trucks on the public highways, and who urged intimidation of men who wanted to work. He was in sympathy with Mexican gangsters, Mexican goon squads, that frightened Mexican workers out of the orchards and assaulted them when they went to work.

This Lucio wrote a letter to a known Communist during the primary campaign endorsing Elliott. I asked Elliott to discuss that letter, but he remains silent. He wants the farmers to believe that Lucio letter has no significance, that Elliott will give them the protection they are entitled to have at the same time keep on good terms with Lucio and the goon squads.

Does he think that the farmers are fools to believe such an assurance? Does he think the farmers will not understand that this Mexican support which he got at the primary was bought price?

And in this connection, Jess Elliott denies that he said at a radical meeting that he would back when the goon squads were stopping trucks on the highways. A woman who was present signed a statement that he did say it, but let it go at that.

What did he say:

Here is a quotation from a Santa Ana newspaper, the Register of October 25th:

"Elliott denied using the phrase 'could turn his back' but said that he had answered as he did as the strikers were not injuring anyone or wrecking anything or disturbing the peace of the town business."

Well, that answer, if it was the one he made, was sufficiently evasive to please the radical meeting. I seem to have given Mr. Elliott too much credit when I said he would turn his back. It appears that he wouldn't even take the trouble to turn his back.

I might also ask what Elliott was doing in courting this radical group. I was invited but I read that I had nothing in common with these people. If Mr. Elliott wanted their votes, he could go and ask for them. He did that and I am sure he got them.

I am not asking for votes in this campaign. I am merely seeking to present the issues to the people of the county in the full confidence that they will take proper action when they know the facts.

I know that the people do not want gamblers and goon squads in control of this county. The people in Los Angeles have just kicked them out. It was an alliance between police and vice that disgusted the Los Angeles voters, and the selling of jobs there is just another phase of such an alliance. The warning lies in the fact that these underworld interests do want control in Orange county, as they had control in Los Angeles, and when they do get control all decency in government is gone.

Keep in mind, then, that this issue of decency in government is a serious issue in this campaign and that you, as voters, have the great obligation of seeing to it that underworld interests do not control your government. Ask yourself again what candidate these underworld interests are supporting in this campaign and then determine on which side you want to line up. That is all I ask of you.

Scotch Trout In Singapore

SINGAPORE (UP)—Trout from Scottish and West of England rivers have been successfully introduced into the rivers of Cameron Highlands, the highest range of mountains in the Malay States—only 400 miles from the equator.

F. Birtwistle, director of fisheries in British Malaya, declares the trout ova were brought to Malaya in refrigerators aboard ships from Liverpool. The trout were allowed to grow in "nurseries" and when fully developed were introduced into the rivers where they are now beginning to breed.

CHANDLER AID BARKLEY RA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—tucky is engaged in a pre-campaign as quiet as its pre-campaign was spectacular. election of one senator and district congressmen on Nov. 1, 1938, looked upon by political observers as an anti-climax.

Kentucky's real political took place last summer when Alben W. Barkley, champion of the New Deal won re-election over Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler. Demonstrating that scars heal quickly in the Grass state, Gov. Chandler, in the Democratic campaign re-elected Sen. Barkley by appearing at political rallies. Sen. Barkley's opponent is P. Haswell Jr., Hardinsburg, Louisville attorney, a quiet year-old Republican.

Haswell has dabbled in politics having served three terms in Kentucky house of representatives. He also served as a circuit judge by special appointment. Kentucky Republicans look forward to one victory, at least the November election. Rep. T. Robison is heavily favored by political observers to win re-election in the normally Republican district. His opponent is Bert Howlands of Corbin.

Other congressional candidates are: First district—Noble J. G. D. Mayfield, Alvin Schul Hopkinsville. Second—Beverly M. Vance, Brownsville; Richard Slac Owensboro. Third—Emmett O'Neal, D., Louisville; Frank Ropke, R., Louisville; E. W. Creal, D.,

Uncle Sam's Mud Houses

Four hundred years ago the Spanish conquerors in Puerto Rico built homes out of "mamposteria," mixture of mud, lime and sand. Some of them are still standing, proving this material ideal for tropical construction. So when Uncle Sam, through the Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration, commenced rehabilitating native dwellings on the island, he took a tip from the ancients and used this sturdy "mud." Pictures above is the first house completed. It cost $700, and is occupied by Mrs. Emiliana Munoz, a widow with 13 children. Below, workmen shown pounding mamposteria into wooden molds to form the walls.

FUROR RAGES OVER COUNTY

Hundreds of calls to peace officers of the county were made last night by those worried or bothered by over-zealous Halloween celebrants or vandals. Mrs. Chris Milton, 401 South Broadway, was slightly injured when a rock was hurled through a window at her place, and several hundred dollars in property damage occurred. Mrs. Milton received first aid at home.

Twenty-nine youths, chiefly from El Toro, Irvine, Tustin and Santa Ana, were arrested by police Chief Gene B. Woods of Laguna Beach and his men last night and held after "attacking" the beach city with tomatoes, watermelons and other "ammunition."

Thirteen of the 29, admitting they were over 21, were put to work today cleaning up Laguna Beach streets. The 29 were charged with committing Halloween mischief or malicious mischief. The remaining 16 are expected in court tomorrow. Boy Scouts who assisted Laguna Beach police last night through influencing younger boys are Boyce Conley, Wallace Cox, Wayne Fountain and Tylan Owens.

Answer 38 Santa Ana Calls In Santa Ana, where tomato throwing was the most popular pastime, 38 calls to police to stop molestations were made. Several youths caught in the act of throwing tomatoes at homes and citizens and fowed with a load of them were ordered to vacant lots where the tomatoes were destroyed.

Today Poundmaster Harold D. Pickering has someone's goats. He wants to learn the ownership. Two of the goats were taken into Santa Ana cocktail lounges, one marched almost to the police station, it was reported. In Orange and other parts of the county, palm trees set on fire threatened to damage nearby buildings. At Chestnut and Main, Santa Ana, an outbuilding hauled there by wagon, was set afire but Officers Tom Kinney and Chet Gross stopped the celebration before it became dangerous.

Other Cities "Raided" At Orange, boys with a sense of humor and without malice, placed a sign on the city hall, "This Choice Corner for Sale."

Wheelbarrows and other equipment were parked on top of buildings in a dozen locations. Officers were called to stop several fights throughout the county. A raid on an El Toro watermelon patch netted a car load of watermelons which were dropped upon the highway from Tustin to Laguna Beach. Hundreds of outside water spigots were turned on, necessitating police investigations. Cross-walk signs here were damaged and rocks and persimmons added to the "ammunition" with which windows were broken and other damage done.

"Grenades" at Officers In one instance, youths threw a tomato at the police department "bath-tub" motorcycle-side car but Officers Kinney and Gross escaped injury. Dozens of car keys left in parked vehicles were stolen, air let out of tires, trash dumped into the street from containers. Red warning lanterns were removed from construction jobs. Mike George reported windows at the La Jolla Mexican colony were broken. Sheriff's officers were called to 17th street a block west of Huntington Beach boulevard where boys were throwing rocks at passing motorists. Scores of youths were apprehended, sent home.

At Midway City, a report was made that Memorial park cemetery property was being molested but officers could find no vandals. Mrs. Charles Whittet, Midway City, reported several youths demanded "blood money"—10 cents each—to promise not to molest her property. Officers guarded the place.

was not committed to any specific plan for pension. He added "the question of old age pensions should be considered on a national basis; meanwhile, aid for the needy should be stressed by California."

Philip Bancroft, Republican opponent of Downey, continued to be the most active of the GOP nominees. Speaking in Los Angeles, he assailed "lawless actions and strong arm squads," which had been used to deprive him of the right of free speech. He cited his appearance at an East Oakland automobile factory when car horns drowned out his attempt to talk.

Raymond L. Haight, Progressive candidate for governor who has made two radio talks since his withdrawal from the race, speaks again tonight in what will probably be his last appearance. He has endorsed Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, against Patterson, the Progressive nominee.

Rolph Joins
James Rolph III joined the Republican radio parade last night with an appeal for united efforts "to keep our state out of the red financially, politically and socially and to preserve our self-respect and good name by electing Governor Merriam and Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, lieutenant governor, and Philip Bancroft, United States senator."

Downey said he plans to finish his campaign in the north and will make daily statewide talks, explaining his stand on controversial questions, "including the pension." Bancroft had attacked Downey for straddling the "ham and eggs" plan.

The motion will be debated tomorrow.

"France and Britain and the cause of law and order have sustained a grave defeat," he declared.

"Germany is now dominant politically and economically in Europe," Attlee said.

Chamberlain replied to the labor leader's charges by saying that even if Attlee actually believed the Munich four power agreement was a defeat it was a pity that he should say so publicly.

"The totalitarian states at any rate do not foul their own nests," the Prime Minister said.

Chamberlain again belligerently defended the Munich agreement and said:

"I do not regard the Munich agreement as a defeat."

"If officers of the A. G. M. However, he can not be coerced into a membership for first he is a musician and an artist."

Menuhin was responding to the statement of the guild's board and signed by Jascha Heifetz, its vice president, that it had no desire to dictate, control, approve or disapprove of the artistic steps of its members, but it could not waive its closed shop clause in its contract with the Los Angeles orchestra.

insurance against loss of wages during sickness.

Won Approval
These points were part of a broad health improvement plan advanced by President Roosevelt's special interdepartmental committee on coordination of health and welfare activities at the national health conference last July. The American Medical Association later approved them in substance.

Funds for the expansion drive would be derived from federal, state and local sources, the federal government furnishing roughly, one half. The program would be organized on a 10 year basis. Economists estimated that $850,000,000 would be the peak annual expenditure during that period.

On one point the conference yesterday failed to reach agreement—establishment of compulsory health insurance under government supervision.

Testimony Involves Green

such testimony was "privileged" communication between attorney and client.

Tells of Fee
Ogle had testified that Green paid him a $100 bill on account of his fee, the apparent significance being that the pamphlet printers had been paid in bills of large denomination.

Ogle was asked whether Green had more money at the time Burke's objection prevented him from answering, the court sustaining Burke.

Ogle then tried to testify of later conversations with Burke, which he said had nothing to do with his employment, but Burke again objected on the same ground. Turner then said he would withdraw Ogle for the present, until he could cite authorities on the point to the court.

Other highlights of today's hearing were a description of the fictitious and badly-wanted "J. M. Paulson," who ordered the pamphlet printed, and a description of the man, unidentified, who paid the Atlas Distributing Company of Los Angeles, $111 for circulating them in Orange county.

Paulson Described
According to Lieutenant M. D. Williams of the Los Angeles police, Paulson was described to him by Robert Elliott, one of the printers, as a dark man weighing about 185 pounds, and wearing a mustache. The man who paid the distributors was described as about 50 years old, and wearing brown striped trousers and sport shoes. Ted Masterson, of Anaheim, reported that this description had been given him by Eddie Taylor, one of the defendants.

The early part of the hearing dealt with the transcript of the Channing Follette bribery case in Los Angeles, which assertedly had been used in making a second companion pamphlet. McKelvey had admitted withdrawing this transcript from the Los Angeles county district attorney's office, and his name was on a receipt card he had signed in that office.

It was this receipt card, introduced into the local hearing as prosecution evidence, that was missing today. It had been handled by various defendants and the prosecution yesterday as Harris testified, and somewhere along the way it dropped out of sight. It has not yet been found.

Harris' testimony turned toward Green late yesterday when he mentioned the frequent use of quotation marks in the Santa Ana Bee, where such words as "girls," "legally here," "punch-boards" and other words were enclosed with quote marks.

When he further essayed to testify of the similarity in trend of ideas and thought, he was caught up sharply by Attorney Burke, who reminded him he was not an expert on literary questions.

Charles Ott, another defendant, yesterday drew from Harris the interesting point that, while it is known that two typewriters were used in preparing the manuscript of "Fools Rush In," and the typewriters were used for both pamphlet manuscripts, the typewriters used have not yet been located.

Cites Resemblance
Ott provided the comedy relief in sessions yesterday and today. When Will Nash, of the Los Angeles district attorney's office was on the stand, testifying how the records are handled there, Ott asked him if he had seen Ott at the office with McKelvey when McKelvey withdrew the manuscript.

"You resemble each other," said Nash suddenly.

"Indeed?" said Ott, "is that a compliment?"

Nash finally said he wasn't clear whether it was McKelvey or Ott who got the transcript.

"I want you to be clear," Ott demanded. "There's a point involved. Was it McKelvey or me?"

"Well, McKelvey admits he was there, so I guess it wasn't you," said Nash.

Cross-examined
Today Ott cross-examined Detective Lieutenant Williams.

"Who is this bird Whitman (manager of the Atlas company) who is missing?" asked Ott. And, as he finished, "How's things in Los Angeles, lieutenant?" he asked.

Lieutenant Williams, on direct examination, had detailed how the Independent Press Room had been raided by himself and Orange county men the day the pamphlet appeared. He told of conversations with Burt Harwick and Robert Elliott, printers, who are among the defendants now before the court.

Elliott, said the witness, told him the mysterious Paulson had paid him $460 for the two pamphlets, but only accounted for about $277 on the books, and finally admitted that the rest was in his pocket.

Details of how the pamphlet was printed and circulated, through employees of the Atlas company, were detailed by Lieut. Williams, and Ted Masterson, of Anaheim, as learned by them from Elliott, Eddie Taylor, and others.

1000 Circulars
Eddie Taylor, they said, had charge of the distributing crew.

About 1000 circulars were distributed in La Habra, a permit had been obtained in Fullerton from a police officer wearing badge No. 2, but permits had been refused in Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana.

It was after Taylor had started his crew in Fullerton that he sat down by the roadside and started to head the pamphlet "Fools Rush In." Before he had gone far he leaped to his feet, according to the account, and declared "Let's get the h—out of here. It's too hot." Thereafter thousands of the pamphlets were hurriedly dumped in a ditch near the Martin airport, south of Santa Ana.

Masterson was first to locate a distributor at work, in Fullerton, and called the police, to arrest him. The trail led back to the Atlas distributing company, and from there to the printing establishment.

Mystery Man
A mystery man in a taxicab still hung in the background of the hearing today. He accompanied driver asked for a pamphlet permit who paid the distributor. The number later was traced to Elliott, the printer. However, according to Lieut. Williams, it also figured in the case. Later developed that the number the license number of a had been erroneously reported from Orange.

No Trouble To Cook On New Ranges

It's easy for daughter to become an expert cook these days for the new gas ranges do most of the work. She has hours of freedom from the kitchen too... by simply "tuning in" the temperature the particular recipe calls for, and setting the automatic time control at the exact time she wishes the oven turned on and off. For EVERY job the clock acts as insurance against overcooking caused by forgetfulness.

Mrs. Margaret Lackland, noted home economist, who will conduct the Register-Southern Counties Gas Company cooking school beginning at the West Coast Theatre at 2 p. m. tomorrow, has many practical suggestions for complete even meals which may be done successfully on a cold start, using the clock to start and stop the oven while you are out of the house. "I am perfectly willing to take them. I'm a disciplinarian if I'm anything. I've never had a class that I couldn't conquer."

"Well, I'm not certain that they need conquering. I think they need coaxing along. They're a restless lot, full of play, but they're not defiant or disorderly. I don't mean to say they are bad boys, you

The principal's hesitancy determined Miss Shine's decision. She could and she would govern that class. In that spirit she took them over. She was a good teacher, conscientious, ambitious for the success of her pupils. She would show the principal and these children what good work really was.

Miss Shine set the stage for discipline. The room was shaded, the books and the maps and the pencils and pads were all set precisely.

A MODERN GAS RANGE IS A MIRACLE OF CONVENIENCE

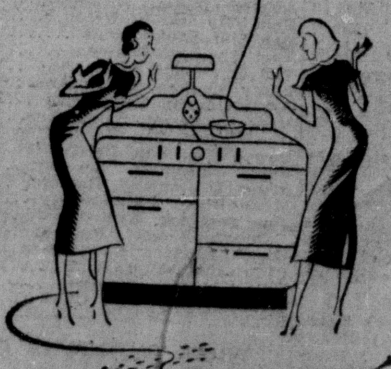

MRS. MARGARET LACKLAND home economist with Southern Counties Gas Company presents her "all-gas" Modern School of Gas Cookery at the West Coast Theatre, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, November 2nd, 3rd and 4th, at 2 o'clock. A model kitchen stage set creates the atmosphere typical of a modern kitchen as Mrs. Lackland demonstrates the latest trends in culinary art.

DECORATIONS TURN TO PAST

Decorators of kitchens are turning to the past for ideas with the result that the streamlined culinary laboratory is being replaced by means of old-fashioned attorned washable wall paper and wood wainscoting. Those quaint dishes out of the past which many women have inherited may appear upon open shelves to lend decoration. Pots of herbs and plants with colorful leaves growing upon windowsills and in corner cupboards complete the picture.

But though some of today's smartest kitchens have their charm and appeal, their efficiency depends upon the newest of equipment. The order calls for all of the modern conveniences in equipment for comfort, cheeriness and a hospitable atmosphere. "So if you've grown tired of the prim streamlined style with everything behind closed cabinet doors, don't be afraid to create a definite effort in decoration which reflects your personality," is the advice of Mrs. Margaret Lackland, a popular home economist who will conduct the Register-Southern County's Gas Cookery for three days beginning at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the West Coast theatre.

Whether your kitchen is as modern in decoration as glass brick or as quaint and charming as your grandmother's, it demands the newest of equipment to make it completely efficient and satisfying. No matter what your color scheme or motif, the new automatic gas ranges and Electrolux gas refrigerator "fit in."

Mrs. Lackland will greet homemakers in a kitchen setting specially built for the cooking schools she conducts. You'll want to see it!

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBNEY—heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
ANNIE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.
DANNIE FEELEY—office assigned to investigate Ludden Dombney's murder.

Yesterday Detective Feeley and Tait met the song writer, Weeks, in the hotel lobby. Feeley is certain that he is the murderer.

CHAPTER XXVI

FEELEY and Tait walked toward the tall, pale man. He had already spotted them, his eyes burning with an unnatural eagerness.

"Are you Mr. Weeks?" Feeley asked.

"Yes..." The man's voice was thick, curiously nervous.

"I'm Elliott Farnsworth. This is Robert Tait, manager of the Swingers. Perhaps you've heard of him?"

"Oh, indeed."

"Mr. Tait is naturally interested in the song we select as the swing hit. In fact, he's made arrangements with our firm to introduce it at the Golden Bowl."

The man nodded. "As was done with 'The Cat's Meow'?"

There was an odd intonation in the remark which sent a chill down Tait's spine. "You—you brought your song with you, Mr. Weeks?"

Weeks tapped the side of his head. "Yes. It is here, with me."

He smiled. "If I could play it for you?"

Tait looked at Feeley. "We can go into the Golden Bowl and use the piano in there. You play, Mr. Weeks?"

"Oh, yes, I play. I am not a musician like, let us say, Ludden Dombney, who couldn't read music but could only make weird noises on a clarinet."

"Good... let's go into the Golden Bowl."

As they went through the lobby and into the empty Golden Bowl, strange and ghost-like now in its quiet, Tait exchanged glances with Feeley. The detective looked grim. Plainly he could hardly restrain himself from clapping the unpleasant Weeks into custody.

The man walked to the piano immediately. "I am not a singer," he said. "I will play it for you, and then recite the lyric."

Tait nodded. The man began to play. As his fingers went over the keys, Tait's jaw dropped involuntarily. The tune was bad. It was trite—it would have been trite even if original, but it was not original. It was a jumble of popular songs from the last five

Practical, Modern All-Gas Kitchen Brings New Freedom

Valuable "Ingredients" All of these valuable "ingredients" or cooking aids are to be found in the new automatic gas ranges and the success of the "recipe" will be demonstrated by Mrs. Lackland at her three-day series of cooking school sessions to be held at the West Coast theatre beginning at 2 p. m. tomorrow, when the art of modern gas cookery will be demonstrated to the homemakers of this community.

CANTANDO CLUB OUTLOOK ROSY

Calling attention today that their first concert of the season was scheduled for Tuesday night, November 1, in the high school auditorium, Cantando club members felt that their weekly rehearsal last night in Church of the Messiah parish rooms, was indicative of the pleasant evening in store for their patrons.

All have expressed special interest in preparation for the opening program, and are deeply appreciative of the ability of the directorship of Joseph J. Klein, who has won the enthusiasm of Cantando members.

For this opening concert the club will intersperse the serious selections with popular numbers in lighter vein. For their guest soloist, the members feel special pride in being able to present Miss Zaruhl Elmassian of Los Angeles, who scored such a success a year or so ago as Cantando guest artist.

Miss Elmassian was here for rehearsal on the evening of the Enzo Pinza concert in the high school auditorium, and sang several solos that evening for the club members and the supper at which the great basso was complimented in Danigers.

Among Miss Elmassian's professional successes have been her programs as guest soloist for Los Angeles Symphony orchestra and San Francisco company. She also sings on radio programs with the famous tenor, Richard Crooks, in addition to her responsibilities as soloist for Trinity Methodist church, Los Angeles.

Concert tickets are being distributed among Cantando patrons this week, but there is still opportunity to secure tickets for the course through Orlo Householder, president, or Dwight Tock, secretary.

"Just Around the Corner," the best comedy vehicle yet given to Shirley Temple, America's No. 1 star, will open tomorrow at the Broadway theater with a supporting cast headed by Joan Davis, Charles Farrell, Amanda Duff, Bill Robinson, Bert Lahr and Cora Witherspoon.

By natural childish mistake, a crochety old man involved in the fortunes of the girl's widowed father and his fiancée is regarded as Uncle Sam, America's emblematic figurehead. The nation's ills as she heard her father recite them, remain in the youngster's mind in a confused way. Through pity for the poor old man, she sets out to remedy matters and he, actually a millionaire, responding to her bungling but charming efforts, withdraws his objection to the romance so that all end happily.

The second attraction will be "Road Demon," second of the series of Sports Adventures in which the Gambini family, headed by Henry Armetta, is featured. There are thrills and laughs in the story, which concerns automobile racing.

As projected, the new sewer, if connected, will link up the north end of town with the existing disposal plant, thus making the city 100 per cent sewer connected. "At the present time we are, in some instances, running behind as much as a year and 11 months. It is impossible to take care of the renewals with the present staff. To date we have no heavy criticism from the state but we are certain to be checked soon," Douglas said.

BORAH IN SUPPORT OF TWO-PRICE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Sen. Borah, R., Ind., today endorsed the objective of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's two price plan for subsidized sale of farm products as a means of protecting the health and morale of the nation.

"There are millions of children in the United States who will not develop mentally and physically because they do not have what they ought to eat and wear," Borah said in an interview. "And at the same time, this material is going to waste—rotting in the fields."

Lack Nutrition
"I am informed that 25 per cent of our young men between the ages of 17 and 25 would be unfit for army service in case of war because of the want of nutrition in their developing years."

How to Write a Good Want Ad

Always start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer.

1. Be clear. Readers respond more quickly when given definite information.

2. Make it easy for the prospect to reach you. Always insert your name, address, and if possible, your telephone number, in your want ad.

3. To secure the greatest reader attention for your ad, use consecutive insertions. Three or six time insertions without interruption are much better than occasional appearances.

4. Place yourself in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know about your offer. The answer you will give will make a good Want Ad.

5. Want Ads that fail to bring satisfactory results do so, not through any lack of being read but because they are carelessly worded and do not give enough information to get prompt action.

6. Place your ad in the big Register Classified Section where you will reach Santa Ana and Orange County's largest group of Classified readers at a minimum cost to you.

COMPARES ANIMALS WITH WARDS OF SOCIETY IN PLEA FOR VOTE

Likening animals confined in pounds to human beings who are wards of communities in philanthropic institutions, Mrs. Rosemond Rae Wright, chairman of the California Citizens Humane Pound committee, today appealed to the public to vote "yes" on Proposition No. 2.

"The proposed state humane pound law, Proposition No. 2, is a step in the right direction," Mrs. Wright said. "It is a step in the humane progress of California and is solely a protective measure for the welfare of impounded animals."

What It Prohibits
The law will not prohibit vivisection, (medical research) but will prohibit sale or surrender of impounded animals to the research laboratories," she continued. "This does not prohibit colleges and laboratories from raising their own animals or buying them from dealers."

In pointing out that those opposing the law give value of medical research as the reason, Mrs. Wright quoted an article in the Medical World of August 28, 1936 as follows:

"Animal experiments as performed in physiological and pharmacological laboratories today, calls for serious criticism by the medical man who is actually engaged in practicing medicine. We submit that the majority, if not all, of such experiments are distinctly misleading as to the deduction drawn from them."

"I WANT A TELEPHONE IN THIS HOUSE!"

"Suppose I get sick? After all, I'm only human. And if I do get a touch of colic . . . or have a nervous breakdown . . . do you know what'll bring it on? Worry! Yes, sir, worrying about how long it would take us to get the doctor if anything should happen."

"Or suppose a pipe bursts in the bathroom? Or a burglar comes along? When something like that happens you don't write a letter, or go after help on horseback. No, sir. You hop to a telephone!"

"And what about my mother? She's got marketing to do. She has to take advantage of the bargain sales. Sometimes she needs to get in touch with Dad during the day. And there are errands to be run. Well, she can't do all those things without a telephone . . . and at the same time give me the attention I expect."

"All Dad needs to do to have a telephone is get in touch with the Business Office. I'd do it myself if I could just get out. But I can't. So is it any wonder that worry is keeping me awake half the day?"

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—To preview last night—and home, missing on the inconsistencies of movie stars. The usual mob of star-gazers surrounded the foyer, shoving elbows, applauding and begging autographs. Roped off under the marquee was the stars' promenade, a public address system at one end and a battery of spotlights at the other. And, one after another, the stars who have graced the "How-I-hate-the-curiosity-of-the-prying-public" peacocked up that aisle—dressed in their starriest duds and LOVING IT!

How Marlene Dietrich used to froth resentment because her fans intruded on her privacy. She wore pants to previews—just to escape notice. How Katharine Hepburn, clad in patched overalls, used to beaf because people stared! One day I heard Brian Donlevy moaning that public curiosity makes him feel like a goldfish in a bowl—and the next time I saw him he was driving down the Boulevard in a block-long, chromium sport job, wearing dark glasses, an Alphonse hat, a green overcoat and a neck scarf that would make a tropical sunset look colorless.

Such inconsistencies are a laughable part of the actorish psychology. Like the adolescent boy who sneers at "dames" while secretly longing for romance, John and Jane Star are always posing as one thing—and bending over backward to be another. There are times, though, when I wish that some of our celebrities who wall the loudest about the loss of their privacy would try to be a bit less conspicuous.

The best informal amateur fights in town are to be found at the Bublichi Cafe—a fashionable nite spot midway between Hollywood and Beverly Hills which is heavily patronized by the sportier movie crowd. It was there that Tom Brown hung one on Lee Bowman. That scrap, which harvested a lot of publicity, was a main event, but the nightly brawls are almost as interesting. Not infrequently there are "mixed matches," with a girl making a fistful pass at her boyfriend. The Bublichi, in keeping with its name, features Russian drinks. Maybe there's an unusually belligerent quality in vodka.

ODD-FORMATION: Since the "Jesse James" company brought prosperity to Pineville, Mo., three Mid-west towns have sent Chamber of Commerce representatives to Hollywood to drum up business. Just before Bob Hope steps in front

P.-T. A. URGES RECORD VOTING

"One hundred per cent vote in Orange county in the coming election."

This is the goal the Parent-Teachers' Association of Orange county have set for themselves following a meeting yesterday at the First Christian church recreation center in Santa Ana with representatives of every part of the county present.

The move came at the request of James A. Smiley, chairman of the Orange County Council against the Single Tax, the body that will assist the school group in having every voter in every precinct cast a ballot on November 8.

Covers All Precincts

George Reymer, secretary of the tax organization, outlined the plan of action to the representatives present yesterday that includes precinct organization of the P.-T. A. in every precinct in the county. Names of voters in each precinct and a map of the precinct will be furnished by the tax council to the committees in charge of "stir the voter" campaign.

If present plans are carried out, each P.-T. A. committee will check the polls at noon on November 8 and will make a special effort to see that those who have not voted by that time are reminded of their opportunity to exercise their franchise.

Special Guest

Special guests at yesterday's meeting were Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools; F. A. Henderson, superintendent of Santa Ana city schools; and Mrs. Robert Knif, president of the Fourth District P.-T. A.

Among those present at the meeting were: Mary B. Robertson, Mrs. Albert Garthe, Mrs. O. V. Barton, Mrs. Cecile W. Green, Mrs. L. D. Spencer, Mrs. Mark B. Dalley, Mrs. Edwin R. Childs, Mrs. Warren O. Mendenhall, Mrs. A. C. Honer, Mrs. R. Deane Smiley, Mrs. John C. James, Mrs. Olen Turner, Mrs. Cassius E. Paul, Mrs. James K. Givens, Mrs. Guy H. Christian, and Mrs. Kathryn de Beck, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Fred Link, Mrs. R. R. Schwartz and Mrs. B. E. Baumbach, representing the Anaheim district; Mrs. Byrd D. Harper, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Victor Echols, Orange; Mrs. Madge Whitte, and Mrs. E. N. Smalley, of Buena Park; Mrs. Orlo Householder, Tustin; and Mrs. C. Harold Hopkins, Balboa.

Automobile wheel bearings should be lubricated at least three times a year.

Featured In Pre-Armistice Day Program

Above are members of the Santa Ana American Legion auxiliary quartet who will sing at the Memorial service to be held on the eve of Armistice Day at the Orange Union high school stadium. Left to right, they are Irma Huffman May, Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag and La Verne Van Wyk. The Memorial service will begin at 8 p. m.

ARREST SOLVES LOCAL FRAUDS

Passing of fictitious checks at four Santa Ana market places two or three months ago had been cleared up today with the arrest in Salt Lake City, of William Lawrence Clayton, alias Walter Lewis Clayton, 25, of San Francisco.

Clayton, who was traced through his unusual mode of operation, was arrested at request of Stockton police where numerous alleged offenses by Clayton were committed.

Gets His Change

Clayton had the habit of making the fictitious checks out in the amount of $5, buying a few groceries and representing himself as the head of a family. Obtaining the groceries, Clayton would receive change from the check, then ask a business man somewhere in the city for permission to leave the city for permission to leave the city for permission to leave the city.

Repeats His Act

Granted the privilege, Clayton then would go to another market and repeat his act. Sometimes he would leave the groceries on some door-step. He never returned for them but police were able to follow his activities up and down the coast. He was wanted in Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Bernardino and Berkeley as well as in Santa Ana and Stockton, police here said. Having been prosecuted in San Francisco before and convicted, Clayton now faces a term in San Quentin prison.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 1.—E. J. Leuenberger, for a number of years a local merchant, will be confined to his home for some weeks by his physician's order.

Late word from Mrs. Loutenia McCallen, until recently a resident of Harper street, tells of her expected arrival back from the south, where she has attended a convention and visited relatives.

SLAYING OF SQUIRES RECALLED IN PLANS FOR COUNTY MEMORIAL

Members of a committee working on the plans for erection of a monument honoring the late Bob Squires, one-time undersheriff of Orange county, who was killed in the line of duty, may make a progress report at tomorrow night's meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association in Sam's Sea Foods cafe, 2501 Coast highway, Seal Beach, it was revealed today.

The committee is composed of the following officers: Police Chief George Franzon, Orange; Police Chief R. R. Hodgkinson, Newport Beach; Constable Charles Mitchell, Santa Ana, and Deputy Sheriff Ives Brown.

Records show Undersheriff Squires was killed near Tomato Springs, 16 miles southeast of Santa Ana in the hills, at 6:30 a. m. on December 16, 1932, while stalking a fiend who criminally assaulted a 17-year old girl the previous night.

Al Prater, who worked on the William A. Cook ranch where the attack on the girl occurred, was shot through the temple; Deputy Sheriff J. F. "Tex" Stacy, through the wrist and shoulder, and Will Culver, through the knee during the same flurry of bullets shot by the fiend from his hiding place in the brushlands. Undersheriff Squires, shot through the head, stomach and lungs, could not be reached for four hours because of the deadly fire of the fiend with his 25-35 rifle, but apparently had been killed instantly. ## LESS OF GREED, MORE OF GOD, IS WILKIE PLEA IN CRIME TALK

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Captain Don Wilkie, former special operative U. S. secret service, author, lecturer and criminologist, last night addressed the largest turnout of the Sacramento Community Forum season at the junior college auditorium.

His subject was, "God Help My Country." Regarded by criminologists as one of the most resourceful operators in the country, Captain Wilkie climaxed four years of single-handed crusading in his address last night.

Pikers in Crime

For over an hour he held his audience spell-bound with his startling declarations. At one point he declared, "I can tell you the truth because I have no ax to grind, no jobs to protect, no book to sell, no sponsor to please. Most of us are honest only because we fear exposure and punishment."

He was greeted with great applause when he declared "the crooks we read about are the pickers in crime. The real crooks are seldom caught. The little fellows pay the price."

Traitors in Office

"The big ones share the biggest cut of the loot while they hide behind the bulwarks of political protection provided by traitors in public office. There are thousands of perfect crimes every week but they are crimes of politics, of intolerance, aggression, might and commercial art; burglary, swindling and forgery; profession, rape a pastime for morons and graft in public office the usual thing accepted by the public with a shrug."

Captain Wilkie closed with a plea that, "to alter this we must have less of greed and more of God."

Wilkie leaves tonight for his home in Laguna Beach. He will appear on subpena before the special grand jury now sitting in Santa Ana, on Wednesday. Questioned on what evidence he could submit he refused details with the blunt statement, "this grand jury is probably hearing plenty."

NEW ARMISTICE RITES PLANNED

An innovation in Armistice day celebrations will be the memorial service which will open the observance at Orange this year. This is the first time such a program has been included in an Armistice Day celebration and the first time the day will be observed as a national holiday.

Americanization Theme

OFFICERS MAY MOVE AUTOS

Conditions under which a police officer may move a parked automobile from a public highway were set forth today by Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California highway patrol, in answering the question of an interested motorist.

"Section 585 of the state vehicle code is somewhat lengthy in thoroughly covering this important subject," Captain Meehan stated. "Briefly, such action may be taken when the vehicle is parked on the improved or main portion of a highway outside of a residence or business district when it could be parked off the roadway."

"When the car is parked on a highway less than 15 feet wide, the same rule holds," he continued. "Other times when a car may be moved by an officer include when it is on a bridge or causeway or in a tunnel when traffic is interfered with; when such vehicle is reported stolen, a warrant issued for embezzlement or when the officer has reasonable grounds to believe the vehicle has been abandoned, and when a disabled vehicle obstructs traffic or the person in charge is physically injured and not able to care for the vehicle."

"Can a person be criminally responsible if he knowingly permits a person to drive his vehicle if that person becomes intoxicated and causes injury to some person in a traffic accident," another motorist asks. "No," the captain states, "but he could be sued civilly."

Kiwanis To Stage Outdoor Session In Subdivision

An unusual departure from the regular meeting place and the regular type of meeting is scheduled for the next session of Santa Ana Kiwanis Wednesday noon. Instead of meeting at the Masonic Temple, the club will convene in the new Allison Honer subdivision on Heliotrope Drive between West 19th and Santa Clara streets.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be J. F. Davenport, a missionary and educator from Caracas, Venezuela, who will give a discussion of present day Venezuela. W. J. Tway will be program chairman for the meeting and will introduce the speaker.

Dinner will be served at the usual time with Tony Barrios and Frank Duffy in charge of arrangements for the food. Les Phillips, of the Blue-Note music company will provide musical entertainment for the occasion. In case of rain, the meeting will be held at the Masonic Temple.

There are about 400 deer in Richmond Park, London. Badgers, fox, hares and rabbits, and more than 100 species of birds also make their homes here.

Romance Fades

Santa Ana and Orange county today were requested to join with the rest of the nation in celebration of National Apple Week that will run until next Monday, according to a communication from the Watsonville and Pajaro Valley chambers of commerce to the local chamber.

A letter insert in the communication carries the following message:

Asks Cooperation
"October 31st to November 5th is National Apple Week. Here in the Pajaro valley, the largest apple producing center in California, we are anxious to have you observe this week with us."

"The chief varieties of apples grown here are the famous Newtown pippin and the bellefleur. They are excellent for eating, without peer for cooking; they are rich in health-giving qualities and very inexpensive."

"Why not join with us in observing National Apple Week? Why not give this community a lift by buying a box, or smaller amount if you so desire, of Watsonville apples?"

Trip to Colorado
Is Pleasant Vacation

When Dr. and Mrs. Mark Lindsey, 921 South Ross street, left in late September for a motor trip back to Colorado, they found that postponing their honeymoon a trip, resulted in four delightful weeks of touring.

They went by way of the Grand Canyon and continued from that scenic point to Canyon City, Colo. where they visited Dr. Lindsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lindsey. There were dinner parties and many similar social functions planned for their entertainment, but there were also many additional amusements, including a deer hunt which yielded Dr. Lindsey a fine five-point buck.

He took the opportunity to renew many friendships of his college days at Colorado State University, and attended the Colorado State-University of Colorado game at Fort Collins, where they were guests of Dr. and Mrs. James D. Carey for a few days. Some time was spent also in La Junta with Dr. Lindsey's brother, C. E. Lindsey, before the Santa Anas left for New Mexico and a trip through Carlsbad Caverns. While in El Paso on the homeward journey, they enjoyed the sights of Juarez across the border, and were entertained by Lieut. Don Dean at Fort Bliss.

Many Prizes Awarded

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Scott were hosts at a costume party Saturday night in their home, 915 South Flower street, where Mexican sunflowers established a sunny motif observed in other decorations. Mesdames Sarah Gorr, Hattie Cozad and Kate Sutton won prizes for their costumes, while Mrs. Laura Tramel received door award. High scores in bridge were held by Mesdames Eleanor Pickel and Dora Warner; in 500, by Mesdames Estelle Grey and Martha Vandewalker.

The Walter Markels
Entertain at Hay Ride

Sweet scent of new mown hay, the invigorating autumn air and a festive spirit contributed to the enjoyment of a hay ride shared Saturday night by guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Markel.

The young people assembled at the Markel home, 611 McFadden street, early in the evening, to start on the leisurely trip in a big wagon driven by Leon Vermillion and Mike Fisher.

Arriving at their destination in the country, guests took part in a delightful interval around a bonfire while the hosts served sandwiches and other refreshments.

In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Markel were Messrs. and Mesdames P. A. Prager, Albert Banks, Hugh McKemy, Albert Markel, John Vincent, Borchard and the Misses Lucille Howell, Neva Brown, Gladys Ehllein, Geraldine Haupt, Bernice Borchard, Estelle Schlesinger and Messrs. Earl Halderman, Albert Halderman, Earl Cunningham, Walter Dunn Jr. and Joseph Mayhan, all of this community; with Mr. and Mrs. Clary Earl, Los Angeles.

D. U. V. Daughters and Sons Share Party

Especially enjoyable were features of the covered dish dinner with which Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans celebrated the carnival season late last week in Modern Woodmen hall.

Mrs. Beren Baker and Mrs. Edith Troxell formed the party committee from the Daughters, aided by a similar committee from the Sons organization in putting their plans into effect. Everyone came in fancy dress, and there were more than half a hundred goblins, witches, colonial dames, cowboys, clowns, country lasses, and Spanish dons and donnas to dine together on delicious home-prepared food.

Later when they joined in old-fashioned dances, the effect was one of color and charm. Radio and victrola music was provided and Mrs. Troxell played for many of the dances.

Constance Bennett
Joins Sontag In Presenting Big
Sales Event

Miss Constance Bennett

Starting Monday, October 31st, one of the most unusual merchandising events of the year will be presented to the women of Southern California, when the Sontag Drug Stores, in collaboration with Constance Bennett, one of Hollywood's most glamorous motion picture stars, offer a sensational Half-Price Sale on Miss Bennett's own personal line of Matched Cosmetics.

Heretofore, Constance Bennett's Matched Cosmetics have been available only at leading department stores throughout the country, and at prices often more than double those at which they will be offered during this gigantic sales event. Miss Bennett, whose shrewd business ability is well known to be equal to her recognized reputation as a top-flight star of the silver screen, has decided to take advantage of Sontag's immense power of customer distribution as the best means of bringing her beauty preparations to the women of Southern California for the first time at popular prices.

All products made in Miss Bennett's laboratories are made with the purest and finest ingredients obtainable, and are scented with perfumes blended for her own personal use. Each item is designed to perform a definite beauty function. Simply, each item does just this, and the treatment as a whole is massed on simplicity; simple to apply, delightful and most economical to use.

For many years, Miss Bennett has been, and is now, a court of last appeals wherever good taste in dress and personal appearance is concerned. In fact, a recent poll established beyond any question of doubt that she tops the list of authorities to whom women all over the world look for the final word of advice regarding what to do about hair, nails, skin, figure and perfect grooming.

In addition to her activities in the cosmetic industry, Miss Bennett is one of Hollywood's high ranking stars, with three completed pictures to her credit since August of this year. Everyone will remember her unforgettable performance in "TOPPER," followed by her equally hit role in "MERRILY WE LIVE." More recently she has appeared in Universal's "SERVICE DELUXE," Hal Roach's "TOPPER TAKES A TRIP," and her current picture "TALE SPIN" present at Twentieth Century Fox Studios. Adv.

Party Program Offers
Much Variety in Amusements

Their annual observance of Hallowe'en yielded Barr Lumber company employees and their families and friends, an evening of sheer enjoyment Saturday, when the delightful big home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Caldwell, on East First street, Tustin, was scene of the festivities.

For the early evening hours, the guests, 63 in number, assembled in the patio, whose big fireplace offered cheery warmth and a crackling blaze. There they enjoyed motion pictures taken by Fred Hunter on a trip into the Yosemite, before breaking up into groups to play volleyball, ping pong, Chinese checkers and bridge.

Dancing was counter attraction, and three big rooms or the second floor of the spacious home, were garlanded with Hallowe'en colors and symbols for this enjoyable interlude to a Victrola-radio program. Apples, popcorn, doughnuts and coffee were served at the close of a delightful evening.

Co-operating with Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell in the hospitality were other members of the social committee for the company's social affairs. On this committee were Messrs. and Mesdames John Dohmer, W. E. Eckles, Gordon Cudworth, Mrs. Katherine Holland, Miss Eunice Spicer and Messrs. Edward N. Hurd and Stanley Richter.

Masquerade Costumes

Laying aside all thoughts of high school work, a group of young people gave themselves over completely to the gay ritual of the Hallowe'en season when Miss Martha May Mills entertained Saturday evening at a masquerade party in her home, 1026 West Sixth street.

Since the young hostess was in as complete disguise as her guests, it devolved upon Mrs. John J. Mills to receive her daughter's friends, and it was a motley crew that took part in the evening's fun. There were the various games appropriate to such an occasion, climaxing with a scavenger hunt. Miss Marjorie Calhoun and Bill Lumley were the prize-winning couple.

Pumpkin jack o' lanterns, witch, cat and goblin figures used as props about the home, found their counterparts on the table so cleverly arranged for the late evening supper hour. Mrs. Mills served sandwiches and relishes with cider, candies and angelfood cake.

Enjoying the plans of Miss Martha May were the Misses Loretta Payne, Adeline Salyer, Barbara Gillespie, Icy Sieweke, Marjorie Calhoun, Messrs. Richard Pearson, Jack Fountain, Joe Ryan, Bud Benson, Bill Lumley and Kenneth Goodman.

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

$3050 SECURED IN Y. CAMPAIGN

PRANKSTERS GIVE FIREMEN AND POLICE BUSY EVENING

ORANGE, Nov. 1.—Cars whizzed around the plaza, davenport cushions floated in the plaza fountain pool, cars and windows of downtown business places were smeared with soap, and tomatoes, persimmons and tin cans were scattered over the streets as boys of the city celebrated Hallowe'en last night.

Many cars were run up on sidewalks and a car was wedged in the entrance of the Y club on East Chapman avenue. There were several fires and one robbery.

Rubbish from all parts of the city was scattered. One prankster with a sense of humor placed a sign on the front of the city hall which read, "This Choice Corner for Sale."

Phones Out of Order
Seventy-five telephones in the south part of town were out of commission early today as a result of a fire set by Hallowe'en celebrators who wanted to rout out the fire department. A palm tree was set afire in front of a residence at 822 South Olive street.

Quantities of fluid were used to promote the blaze, fire chief, A. L. Tomblin states. A telephone pole was charred and a large telephone cable burned. The fire was started at 11:30 p. m. Firemen protected endangered houses in the district. Firemen were called out to East Walnut avenue earlier in the evening when a fire was sent in at 8:30 p. m. A 50 foot palm tree was found blazing between Shaffer and Center streets on Walnut. No damage resulted except for the loss of the tree.

Citations Issued
Citations issued by Orange police Hallowe'en night went to Joseph Lemon, 20, of Santa Ana, for reckless driving; Clarence L. Harris, 16, driving with expired license; and to Raymond L. Stanfield, 21, of Calexico, for unnecessary noise in backfiring his muffler.

The pranksters built a bonfire on South Orange street in the 100 block, which police extinguished. Three trailers were pulled out into the street from the Spennetta truck yards on North Lemon street. Castler's market on North Glassell street was entered at 10 o'clock last night and a quantity of grapes stolen. A steel screen on the front was broken to gain entrance. Many calls were received by police from citizens complaining of boys throwing persimmons, tomatoes and pumpkins.

Mrs. John Stinson Entertains Club
ORANGE, Nov. 1.—Mrs. John Stinson entertained members of the Calendar club yesterday afternoon at their annual Hallowe'en party. Her East Taft avenue home was cleverly decorated with tiny Hallowe'en lamps, bearing the faces of ghostly figures. Mexican sunflowers lent their orange tones to the decorative scheme. When a two-course luncheon was served later in the afternoon, guests were seated at a lace spread table which was centered with a bowl of yellow chrysanthemums and lighted with yellow tapers.

The club will meet November 30 at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Adams. Present were Mesdames George Smith, Claudia Boyer, Laura Bowen, Martha McDani, Bell Barnes, Charlotte Adams, Florence Ober, Ora Benson, Margaret Tulene and Mrs. Helen Durrer, sister-in-law of the hostess.

I refuse to indulge in false modesty where this emergency dessert is concerned...it was sum-shus and I want you to know it!

An idea, one of your favorite recipes, suggestions for inexpensive Christmas gifts...anything that will interest other women, will be received, plus a stamped, return-addressed envelope, in exchange for the Calory List.

NEWS OF THE WORLD PORTRAYED IN PICTURES

Potatoes . . . Parleys . . . Police . . . There's Still A Lot Doing Over In Europe

Jolly Germans Help Sudeten Farm Frau

Fighting men of Hitler's Nazi legions laid down their guns momentarily after the Munich agreement allowed peaceful invasion of Czechoslovakia and helped Sudeten peasants bring in the harvest. Many crops were left ungathered by Czech farmers who fled before the advancing German armies. This picture shows husky German troopers in the fields aiding a farm woman.

Another Loss for the Czechs?

After German conquest of Sudetenland the Czech government gave heed to the clamor of other nations for a share in the Czechoslovakian pie. Here Count Esterhazy (coat over shoulders, right) represents the Czechs in a conference with Hungarian officials.

British Legionnaires Off to Run Plebiscites

War clouds dispersed for the present by the partition of Czechoslovakia, there remains much work before all details of the four-power peace pact can be put into effect. Pictured above entraining at London are some of the 1200 British legionnaires picked for police duty in the Czech areas in which plebiscites are to be held under direction of an international commission.

What Happens When a Big Balloon Goes Boom

A great gas bag slowly inflates, top picture, as a prelude to a projected record-breaking flight into the stratosphere. The gaily painted gondola, which was to carry two Polish balloonists, stands in the foreground. Suddenly a tremendous explosion rips the bag, flames shoot skyward and the balloon sinks in flames, as pictured in lower photo. Here are two pictures, taken within seconds of each other, that record the failure of a stratosphere flight before it began. These photos of the spectacular explosion were taken at Chochowska, 150 miles from Warsaw. The fliers had hoped to soar 16 miles.

China's First Lady Sews for Nation's Soldiers

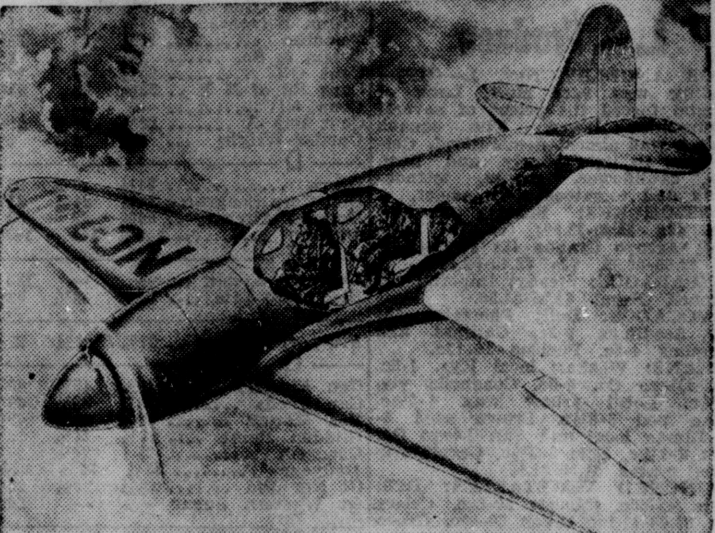

All of China's womanhood—from the highborn to the lowborn—are hard at work preparing China's Army for the winter to come. And one who does her bit when she can take time off from her many other duties is Mme Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the generalissimo. She's shown at the women's work shop of the New Life movement in Hankow making a sewing machine hum as she sets the pace for other workers. Behind her is Mrs. Paul Twine, American missionary and long a resident at Hankow.

Three Budgeteers Look Into National Pocketbook

The three budgeteers charged with determining how wide to pull open the national purse-strings next year as pictured at the White House after a long conference with President Roosevelt. Left to right are John W. Hanes, assistant secretary of the treasury; Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury, and Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget.

If You're In a Hurry to Get There

Capable of flying 330 miles per hour, nearly 100 miles faster than other commercial planes in present use, the "Executive", pictured above in cut-away sketch, was recently designed by the Seversky Aircraft Corporation. It is intended to carry four passengers, is powered with a twin-row 1200 horsepower engine and is designed as a full cantilever, low-wing monoplane. Seversky expects it to be an aid to executives needing rapid transportation and a feeder plane for larger airliners.

"Nazi" Storm Dupers

This might be a scene from Nazi Germany—but it isn't. It is the high point in a two-day "crisis" over the "frontiers" of Harvard University. Officials of Cambridge, Mass., where the school is located, recently threatened to incorporate Harvard as a municipality "separate and distinct" from Cambridge. Students hastily formed a "Harvard Secessionist Society" and, aided by members of the Harvard Lampoon, staged the burlesque "Nazi" demonstration shown above—a take-off on the Sudeten-Czech situation.

Tots Saved From A Blazing Death

Seattle authorities hailed the heroism of a young mother, Mrs. Merrill Stewart, who saved her two children, Merrill, 5, and Allen, 3, from a blazing death when they were trapped aboard a yacht by a Lake Union waterfront fire. Mrs. Stewart leapt overboard with the two children in her arms and swam to a pier piling where she clung with the tots until rescued.

Bombs and Shells Pave Way for Japan's Steamroller

Slowly, but surely, the steamroller of Japan's modern military might is forcing its way against stubborn Chinese resistance toward Hankow, vital point in Northern China's defenses. And its way is smoothed by the leveling effect of terrific barrages from field guns and airplanes. In the photo above, Japanese soldiers wait patiently beside their battleflags while the aerial and artillery bombardment on the Chinese defenses in the background paves the way for their advance. This dramatic demonstration of modern tactics was snapped during an attack on Wuhsueh, Yangtze River town near Hankow.

Surrender at Dawn

Contained in the great tragedy of the life-and-death struggle between Japan and China are many lesser but none-the-less stirring dramas like the one recorded here, showing the capitulation at dawn of a body of Chinese at Lushan. In the unusual photo above, dark figures with hands aloft are silhouetted against the brightening sky as they march over the brow of a wooded hill to surrender. But a Japanese soldier, suspicious, stands with bayonet fixed, ready for anything—

Holding a flag above him in token of surrender, a Chinese leads his fellows toward their Japanese captors. While one Japanese points a keen bayonet into the Chinese soldier's face, another Japanese keeps the rest in line. Military headquarters of the invaders reported that these Chinese surrendered after being bombed from airplanes with handbills offering the soldiers five dollars, food and a chance to return unmolested to their homes behind the Japanese lines.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

OLSON AND GOOD JOBS

On Monday, we commented on what would happen to the workers and to business if Olson were elected governor. The subject needs further deductions.

In this editorial, it was our belief that if Olson were elected, all of California would become as much dominated by the C.I.O. and Communists as the "goon squad" as Seattle and San Francisco are. The reason we believe this is that each city would have to fight single-handed the combined C.I.O. organizations, the Tom Mooney advocates, the Communists from all over the State. They would by mere numbers compel each county to acquiesce in permitting the C.I.O. to determine who dare work and who dare not work in every community. This is true because it is not reasonable to believe that Olson would call out the militia to protect the county attacked, even if the sheriff of the county did ask for help. It does not seem reasonable that Olson would be a party to calling out the militia to suppress voters who elected him. Lepers do not change their spots. Olson would want to be re-elected and would know that his election was not due to people who believed that wealth is created by work, but that he was elected by people who believed that the C.I.O. should dominate the lives of individuals. Then, for anyone to believe that Olson would call out the militia to enforce law and order and a man's right to work without the consent of the C.I.O. committee, is to believe something that is as unnatural as water running up hill.

Opportunity to Explain Not Wanted

Let it be remembered that The Register has repeatedly offered Olson, or his appointed representatives, free space in The Register, to explain in detail, not in generalities, how he proposes to increase the living standards of all people by pensions and by collective bargaining.

Of course anyone who does not know what he is talking about or is trying to fool a bewildered, troubled people who are too busy making an honest living to study these "short cut to utopian plans" does not dare to explain in detail his plan. People would then lose confidence in him.

HIGHWAY PATROL OPPOSES NO. 4

Members of the Orange County branch of the State Highway Patrol are incensed over radio and newspaper reports to the effect that the State Highway Patrol favors Proposition No. 4 which creates and provides for the organization of a Highway and Safety Commission of five members to be appointed by the governor. The five members of the commission will receive $6000 each per annum.

The State Highway Patrol members in Orange County declare they are opposed to a commission form of government that ties up with other state departments.

They are opposed to a commission which will be purely political and which will cost the taxpayers at least $100,000 per year more to operate than under the present system.

They declare the measure takes out of the hands of the people forever the control of the distribution of funds, the construction of highways, the construction or abolishment of toll bridges, and the regulation of highway traffic, and puts not only the highways but our present highly efficient highway patrol neatly in the pocket of a super-political hierarchy and subject to its slightest whim.

The members of the super-power commission serves for 10 years and cannot be removed except by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The measure is sponsored by two privately owned automobile clubs, the Auto Clubs of Southern California, and the California Automobile club which operates in the northern part of the state.

The amendment is definitely opposed by the California Association of Highway Patrolmen. This fine body of men so far has been kept above and out of the reach of politics and politicians, and they desire to so continue.

The Nation's Press

MR. ROOSEVELT WOULD DISTRACT ATTENTION (Chicago Tribune)

Mr. Roosevelt apparently is alarmed by what is happening at home. He reveals evidences of disquiet and is seeking to divert attention from domestic to foreign affairs. He is showing America's breastplate to the dictators and issuing the warnings which in recent months have gone out of fashion in Europe itself. He has spread his shield over the western hemisphere again. He is advising Great Britain in Palestine while he admonishes Herr Hitler and Mussolini.

He has the state department take the occasion of Japan's celebration of its conquest of Canton and Hankow to send what is described as a blunt and forceful note to the Tokyo government, saying that the United States finds it increasingly difficult to reconcile itself to the Japanese procedure in China. Japan has made it apparent, in its own interests, of course, that it desires to remain on the friendliest terms with the United States. It would be foolish if it did not, but Mr. Roosevelt will have none of this for the present moment.

It should be apparent that the United States will preserve a good standing in China only in cooperation with the Japanese, but Mr. Roosevelt's present political necessities require that he start something beyond the horizon if he is to counteract the political effects of the disclosures which reveal the subservience, the racialism, the hypocrisy, and turpitude of the New Deal in its desperate efforts to keep control of the government of this country.

If Mr. Roosevelt and his carefree playboys of Washington were not approaching a panic, they might not be so willing to provoke the anger of other nations and step out into the world with a chip on the shoulder, scolding and threatening to do things that no sane person in the country wants to undertake.

The White House assumption is that because most of the American people do not like what is being done by aggressive rulers they can be made to forget all about their own troubles and have their eyes taken off the scandals at home. This won't work. The trick will fail unless Mr. Roosevelt can actually get drums to beating. The foreign governments may have advisers shrewd enough to know that Mr. Roosevelt is in political campaign at home and that the old practice of starting trouble abroad is being followed. If they do, they will shrug their shoulders, and

RAILROAD WAGE DECISION

From the news reports of the committee to determine whether the railroads should reduce wages or not, it is evident that the committee was composed of people who believed that wages can be increased by law or by wish.

When the committee says that the wages of the railroad men are not higher than other wages for like services, they have certainly not given the matter any serious study.

It is reported that the average wage for all railroad workers, besides executives and officeholders, is better than $33 a week. The total income in the United States is about $65,000,000,000 a year. There are about 53,000,000 people who desire to be gainfully employed. Probably 43,000,000 are working. If capital got nothing for its investment and this $65,000,000,000 were divided equally between the 43,000,000 workers, this would be about $1500 a year, or a little less than $30 a week on the average. Remember this is allowing nothing for capital investment, or for executive's salaries, or expansion. So when the Board says that these wages are not higher than the other wages for like services, they cannot substantiate their statements by statistics.

For the committee to contend that the railroads have only been in serious trouble for about a year, when one-third of them are in the hands of receivers and their condition has been in such shape that they could not sell securities for the last six years, is certainly mis-stating the facts.

"DESPOTIC REALITY OF UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE"

As we see the totalitarian states gaining more power and so-called democracies having more trouble, an address, made by Thomas Huxley some 62 years ago at the opening of the Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, shows the prophetic wisdom of Huxley.

In this address, Huxley said, "You and your descendants have to ascertain whether this great mass will hold together under the form of a republic, and the despotic reality of universal suffrage; whether State rights will hold out against centralization, without separation; whether centralization will get the better, without actual or disguised monarchy; whether shifting corruption is better than a permanent bureaucracy; and as population thickens in your great cities, and the pressure of want is felt, the gaunt spectre of pauperism will stalk among you, and communism and socialism will claim to be heard. Truly America has a great future before her; great in toil, in care, and in responsibility; great in true glory if she be guided in wisdom and righteousness; great in shame if she fail. I cannot understand why other nations should envy you, or be blind to the fact that it is for the highest interest of mankind that you should succeed; but the one condition of success, your sole safeguard, is the moral worth and intellectual clearness of the individual citizen. Education cannot give these, but it may cherish them and bring them to the front in whatever station of society they are to be found; and the universities ought to be, and may be, the fortresses of the higher life of the nation."

It will be noted that 60 years ago Huxley saw the danger of a disguised monarchy. It seems that we do not now have the liberty of the individual that he had when Dr. Huxley was making this address. He also was greatly concerned with what he called the "despotic reality of universal suffrage." And when the universal suffrage sees fit to write bills that prevent men from working and producing what they believe they are best qualified to do, we have reason to believe that Dr. Huxley was a man of great vision.

TAXING CHILDREN

Under the system of taxation we now have, we tax the service which the government renders to the children at a much higher rate than it should be taxed. If there is anybody that it costs little for the government to protect and defend, it is children. The present sales tax and income tax that make capital scarce, taxes direct and indirect by whatever the child consumes. In the case of the sales tax, the total per cent of what the child consumes is taxed at a higher rate than that of the large, extravagant consumer. This is because the extravagant consumer consumes a lot of services on which there is no tax.

Had we a graduated tax on consumption and used each member of the family as a basis of taxation, instead of the head of the family, we would not be taxing the family with a large number of children nearly as highly as we are at present. It would be a much fairer tax to all. It would not discriminate against children.

ignore everything for a month or so.

Mr. Roosevelt's preoccupations are not in China, Palestine, Germany, Italy, or South America. They are at home. He is worried by Mr. Hines in New York, by Mr. Curley in Massachusetts, by Mr. Quinn in Rhode Island, by Earle and Guffey in Pennsylvania, by Senator Chavez in New Mexico, by Gov. Frank Murphy in Michigan, by Harry Bridges on the west coast, by the Bessies in Minnesota, by John Lewis' communists, by Henry Wallace's farm prices. He is worried by the failure of the purge, by the work of the congressional investigating committees which have shown how corruption and communism have gained the upper hand. The suppression of the scandals has been faulty. His indictment of his opponents is discovered to be transparently false. The turpitude of his supporters is being made correspondingly clear.

The White House revolutionaries are responsible for the destitution and hardships. The corruptionists who have flourished on the New Deal money have been found at work. Every state is exhibiting just such a picture of protected corruption as any sensible person would have expected, knowing that the federal treasury was wide open to spoilsmen. The New Dealers who have been conducting affairs under Mr. Roosevelt in every state have grabbed everything they could, have taken advantage of the agencies of relief, and have piled up such a record of corruption that it could not be concealed.

Pretenses of superior virtue could not hide forever what was going on, and even the public treasury may not have enough money to stop the punishments which should be the result of this debauchery. So Mr. Roosevelt turns his face away from the land and looks abroad, hoping that he can distract attention from the dominance of communism, crime, and corruption in this country.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

NEW YORK CITY—One of the most barbarous results of the savage "peace" of Munich will be a wider and more intense persecution of Jews. That has long been a prime point in the Hitler program. Since Hitler now stands astride Europe as its greatest threat, if not its absolute master, this is bound to be a new development in more nations than one.

As recent attempts to resettle persecuted Jews in other countries has shown, this poison has already spread so far that no nation will offer them a haven of refuge. When you stand off a little way and look at this throwback to the darkest ages of witch-burning, ignorance and intolerance, it seems simply incredible in any civilized country. I don't know enough about conditions in Germany to be sure, but on the general advance of societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals everywhere, I'll bet that, even in Berlin, dogs or cats or horses couldn't have been mistreated as have been Jews, without sending the sadistic perpetrators to jail.

Passing from human protection, for animals of the lower order against human brutality, to the animals themselves, you will find nowhere in the jungle such savagery of any species toward individuals of its own kind, except perhaps among a few fish and some spiders. Wolves wouldn't do it. Jackals wouldn't do it. Rats wouldn't.

I have no particular brief for the Jews as against all others, but I have one for them as human beings. I know their faults, perhaps not as well as they themselves know them. Every race has faults and in every one there are extremists in those faults who become actual public enemies. But every race has virtues and in every one there are extremists who become public benefactors. Among the latter in Jewry appears the figure of Jesus Christ and back of Him the whole of the Law and the Prophets. Between them is based much of all the decency and religion and righteousness that we know.

Yet, the people who contributed all this to the human race is being scourged more mercilessly than ever before in history. It is being destroyed by savage leaders whose boast is that they intend to rule the world, not by such advanced principles as good-will and justice as being back thousands of years to the abolition of human freedom and the conquest of the world by fire and sword.

Mr. Hitler's argument is that the saving of the "home front" in 1918 destroyed the German military front and that it was the defection of the Jewish people in Germany that crumbled domestic resistance. With a defeated soldier people like the Germans and especially the Prussians, that is sure-fire witch-burning propaganda.

But I happened to be at the head of one of the principal divisions of our General Staff in those days and Army member of our War Industries Board. We knew exactly what was going on inside of Germany. It is true that the nation was starved rather than battered into submission, but it was the whole German people who caved—worn, weary, undernourished, hungry and bled white. Not alone the Jews. All the Germans knuckled, both Hindenburg and Ludendorff, in their memoirs, state that clearly, and lay the blame almost singly

By what right does a member of the Congress of the United States, circulate through the U. S. mail in Santa Ana, under his frank and without the payment of postage, the enclosed? (Speech by Sen. Henrik Shipstead).

As regards the so-called "warrants" to be issued every Thursday under a proposed amendment to the Constitution, what is to prevent extensive speculation in them? As an illustration, suppose they do circulate freely, they can be gathered up when, say, 60¢ of stamps are attached thereto, the holder of quantities of them holding them for redemption, thus securing a dollar for each warrant upon which he expends 44¢. Also there is a big chance for skilled counterfeiters flooding the state with clever imitations of the stamps.

After the war between the states, the country was flooded with state and other moneys of dubious value. In 1865 Congress passed a law imposing an annual 10 per cent on all such currencies, which promptly disappeared. Perhaps Congress can see a parallel here.

THOS. S. BLAIR.

Fellow Citizens: Hon. Rex B. Goodcell, insurance commissioner of the state of California, recently addressed a letter to Attorney General U. S. Webb regarding certain questions that would arise in connection with insurance, in event the "30¢ Every Thursday" warrants are issued.

Question: Would any insurer be legally authorized to tender these warrants at the maturity value thereof in payment of losses under its insurance or surety contracts, full satisfaction of its contract obligation, and could it demand full release upon such tender?

Answer: The answer to this question is in the negative. These warrants are not, nor do they purport to be legal tender for private debts and obligations. Therefore, no insurance company would be privileged to require any person to accept such so-called warrants in payment of any amount due from it by way of losses sustained or payable under any policy issued.

Question: Would any insurer be legally authorized under the insurance code to purchase or use these warrants as investments, either as general investments or as excess funds investments?

Answer: The answer to this question is in the negative. Article 3 and 4 of chapter 2, part 2, division 1, insurance code, comprises sections 11-0 and 11-1, and sections 1190 and 1202 inclusive, deal with general and excess funds investments of insurance companies. The only mention of war insurance is in the "pitiless war industry" of the United States.

The genius and head of that "pitiless war industry" was a Jew, R. M. Baruch—but not as a traitor—destroying Germany from within—just as an American like Pershing or Sims fighting above-board against Germans—Jews and Teutons—to destroy her from without. So now the "Jew Baruch" becomes a principal object of German wrath because, backed by the President, he warns that we should defend ourselves, and lay the blame almost singly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—These are quiet days. Dynamite has been laid away in the official closet until after election. Just the Roman candle issue, such as Dictators, Defense, Dies, are being exploded in the well planned Washington news. Fuses have been doused officially on economic planning, trusts, busting, and the multitude of matters such as this following minor by revealing example:

A certain large and influential newspaper has been cogitating about what candidates it would support. Also it was simultaneously worried about labor cases brought by a CIO affiliate against it before the National Labor Relations Board.

An intimate of the White House thought it would be very bad politics if these two different subjects happened to become intertwined at this late date before the polls open. He is known to have telephoned long distance to a CIO head, expressing the hope that the labor cases against the paper would not be pressed before election. The CIO head was out, but got the message. (Apparently a lot of others got it also, as the news reached the newspaper, finally got back to the White House again, and now everyone's face is red.)

So it goes.

Mr. Roosevelt told news-men at his last press conference it would make a grand story if they would go out and interview their colleagues closely covering the Dies Committee, about what the committee was doing.

Here is the story, grand or not. Fourteen news-men who sat through all or most of the House Committee hearings have been interviewed. The verdict seems to be a hung jury. Six think the investigation was "disgraceful," "unfair," "New Deal smearing," "discredited" and "a liability to the country." Seven saw some good in it, as well as a little bad.

One refused to express an opinion.

Comment on those disapproving ran "no semblance of fairness;" "committee has obtained personal opinions instead of facts;" "pathetically non-credible manner in which testimony has been adduced discrediting whole affair;" "developed into purely a political investigation;" "dumb investigation."

Comments generally on the approving side, with reservations.

YOUR Nation's Affairs

The bitterly contested fight in California over the $30 every Thursday plan will be settled, temporarily at any rate, on November 8. On that date the people of the state will decide whether to incorporate this plan, characterized by the President as "a fantastic financial scheme," in their Constitution.

The plan is a dangerous one, not only because it threatens to support its citizens to the state of California, but also because it is a manifestation of the view, rapidly gaining acceptance, that it is the duty of the government to support its citizens, rather than the duty of the citizens to support their government.

It is bad enough when able-bodied persons who are only fifty years old demand that they be given a pension which will permit them to live in comfort without their lifting a finger to support themselves, but it is truly serious when throughout the entire country innumerable powerful organizations, made up of young and old, embrace enthusiastically the "something for nothing" idea.

Unfortunately, this is exactly what is happening. Farmers demand and receive pay for not growing crops, though one-third of the people have insufficient food, clothing, and shelter. Trade unionists demand higher wages and shorter hours, without any intention of stepping up productivity so as to earn the higher wage or shorter hours. Business men demand protective tariffs and other government aids.

Should the people of California adopt the $30 every Thursday plan, the state will surely go bankrupt, and probably within a year or two. By the same token if the people of the United States continue on a whole-sale scale to try to get "something for nothing," industrial production will become paralyzed through having to bear inordinate burdens, and the Federal Government also will eventually become bankrupt.

In the case of the Federal Government bankruptcy can doubtless be long postponed, because of the great productivity of our resources, but if we continue to cherish the delusion that we can grow richer by spending our energy in dividing up the national wealth rather than in increasing its total amount,

Will they get the votes of men who abhor "Funny Money" and socialism and insurrection? Well, we shall see what they shall see.

I am a man of faith. I believe in my country and its great destiny. I will not concede, in spite of all appearances, that we are about to go to the "bow wows." I have faith that the real Democrats will presently take charge of their party and steer it in its traditional path of sane and conservative progress.
